Governor's Conference on Economic Development

Join us for this critical gathering of economic developers and community leaders from across New Mexico as we embark on a transformative journey towards a prosperous future. The Governor's Conference for Economic Development is back, and it promises to be an event of unparalleled significance.

Last year's conference attracted over 300 attendees, consisting of esteemed economic development professionals, influential state and local government officials, visionary legislators, and forward-thinking business leaders. This diverse and dynamic audience created a vibrant atmosphere of collaboration, knowledge sharing, and impactful discussions.

Our goal for this year's conference is to build upon the tremendous success of the past, continuing to foster an environment where innovative ideas take root, and partnerships are forged. We invite you to be a part of this exceptional event, seizing the opportunity to engage with the most influential voices in economic development.
